DETAILED ACTION

Formal Matters

Claims 1-6 and 19-33 were cancelled in Paper No. 25, 9/16/2002. Claims 7-12, 15-18 are pending and under consideration.

Response to Amendment

The rejection of the cancelled claims are moot and thus withdrawn.

The rejection of claims 7-15 under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,888,511 (Skurkovich et al.) has been withdrawn.

The rejection of claims 7-12, 15-18 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 5,888,511 (Skurkovich et al.) in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,585,098 (Coleman et al.) has been withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 7-12, 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. patent No. 5,723,120 (Brakenhoff et al.) in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,888,511 (Skurkovich et al.) and further in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,585,098 (Coleman et al.).

The '120 patent discloses a method for treating IL-6 related diseases, said method comprising administering to a patient in need of such treatment a pharmaceutical composition containing an amount of an IL-6 receptor antagonist effective for treating sepsis and a pharmaceutically acceptable carrier (column 3, lines 14-20). The '120 patent further discloses that other agents which may be combined with IL-6 receptor antagonists include monoclonal antibodies directed to cytokines involved in the sepsis pathway, such as antibodies directed to IL-6, and antibodies directed to TNF (column 12, lines 44-50). Thus, the '120 patent discloses methods of treating patients with sepsis with therapeutic compositions comprising anti-TNF and anti-IL-6 antibodies.

The '120 patent does not disclose routes of administration of the therapeutic composition comprising anti-IL-6 and anti-TNF antibodies. U.S. Patent No. 5,888,511 discloses methods of treating autoimmune diseases by administration of antibodies to IL-6 in addition to anti-TNF antibodies (column 5, lines 41-50). Compositions comprising anti-IL-6 antibodies and antibody to TNF are claimed in claim 3, column 30, lines 10-21. The '511 patent discloses methods of methods of administration including intravenously, orally and parenterally at column 18, lines 17-30. The '511 patent at column 15, lines 47-49 disclose the production of (polyclonal) antibodies in mice, rabbits and humans, for use in the disclosed methods.

Art Unit: 1646

U.S. Patent No. 5,888,511 does not disclose the use on antibodies derived from avian sources. U.S. Patent No. 5,585,098 discloses the use of polyclonal antibodies prepared from chicken eggs to neutralize systemic pathogens in mammals (column 4, lines 30-50). U.S. Patent No. 5,585,098 further discloses the advantages of using polyclonal antibodies derived from chicken eggs, including, inter alia, Chicken antibodies do not react with mammalian complement, Fc receptors, protein A or protein G. Yolk antibodies show great acid and heat resistance. Extraction of yolk antibodies can be performed even on a large scale without costly investment. Concentrating the antibody from egg yolk is a relatively straightforward process. The antibody is not harmed by pasteurization. The FDA regards egg antibody as a food rather than a drug and has granted GRAS (generally accepted as safe) status thereto (column 5, line 61 to column 6 line 2).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of skill in the art at the time the invention was made to practice a method of treating patients with sepsis with therapeutic compositions comprising anti-TNF and anti-IL-6 antibodies which are avian in source. The motivation is provided in the '120 patent which discloses that when used to treat sepsis, IL-6 receptor antagonists may be given in combination with other agents which would be effective to treat sepsis to attenuate sepsis or septic shock (column 12 lines 1-11). The motivation to use antibodies derived from avian sources is provided in the '098 patent which discloses the advantages of egg yolk antibodies (column 5 lines 62-67).

Conclusion

No claim is allowed.
